General: Interviews and review of documentation revealed that a three-year-old child received a head injury due to walking into a pole around 11:15am and the parent was not notified until around 2:20pm. Interviews revealed that the staff member caring the aforementioned child along with four (4) other children did not have time to immediately contact the parent even though a bruise was visible on the child's forehead. Interviews revealed that the staff member was preparing for lunch and naptime, which they stated, prevented them from immediately contacting the parent.
