Findings: General: Based on observation and interview, on 09/24/19, a one-year-old child was placed in a highchair by the child's mother to eat breakfast in the Infant 2 classroom. The safety straps were not secured around the child after placing him in the highchair. A staff member stated that after he was finished with breakfast several minutes later, she went to remove the child from the highchair without knowing the child had not been secured. The staff member stated that she removed the tray and turned to place the tray down when the child fell forward out of the high chair and landed on the linoleum floor. The staff member stated that she checked the child over and found no marks or bruises. The staff person in charge notified the child's parents. The staff person in charge stated that the child was not taken to a doctor or hospital for an examination. It should be noted that the same type of incident in the same classroom occurred on 06/13/19, to an eleven-month-old child.
